Question: I am using the isuthesis package and I have a really long table that extends longer than a single page. I tried breaking my table up into two separate tables but that creates two entries in my “List of Tables”. What can I do?

Hi,

Keep your first table the way it is but use the `\isucontinuecaption` command in place of the `\isucaption` command in your second table. The `\isucontinuecaption` command marks the table or figure as a continuation of the previous table or figure and thus doesn't increment the table or figure counter for that table or figure.
